

Terry Webber

Terry Webber serves as Executive Director of Packaging at the American Forest & Paper Association (AF&PA). He leads the AF&PA Packaging Sectors, which includes containerboard and paperboard producers. He previously led the state and local government advocacy program, and joined the association in 2011 as the western regional manager for state government affairs.

Prior to joining AF&PA, Webber was a postgraduate legal fellow for the Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights at the U.S. Department of Agriculture and a legal extern for the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission Enforcement Division and the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Central District of California. He also has an extensive background in Oregon politics, as campaign staff for former NBA player Chris Dudley's 2010 run for Oregon Governor and as senior staff for the House Republican Caucus.

Webber holds an undergraduate degree from Northwestern University as well as a law degree from the University of Southern California, where he was on the Southern California Law Review. He is a member of the State Bars of California and Oregon. He resides in Portland, Oregon with his wife Allison and son Emile.
